A Message to the Class of 1949

It is our sincere wish that the members of this class may enjoy peace, health and prosperity during the years ahead and that the days at "North" have brought forth enduring values as a basis upon which to build.

The interest of the class as a whole in this unusually presentable yearbook is quite commendable and has resulted in a quality which should be pleasing to all. It is deeply significant that the dedication is most appropriate. May the kindness, love and care bestowed by the parents be returned in full measure.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Room 430 is buzzing with voices as president Redmond O'Brien calls the meeting to order. After the reports of secretary Ann Devereaux and treasurer Melvin Studley, the business of the day gets underway. Vice-president Nancy Raymond makes the first motion and the council prepares to vote. The business may include the method of carrying out the Red Cross collection, plans for a cafeteria clean-up campaign, community chest work, or the annual school elections. These are a few of the projects sponsored by the Senior Student Council.

The fourteen busy people who compose this council are elected by popular vote during the school elections. The group is supplemented by representatives from each of the senior homerooms. In this manner the students are kept informed of council activities.

One of the highlights of the year was the dance, "Santa's Spree" complete with Santa Claus (Mr. Lyons) and gaily-trimmed Christmas Tree.

Under the supervision of its sponsors Mr. Lyons and Mr. Fair, and the leadership of its four officers, the '48-'49 Council has had an interesting year.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

"Impressive" describes the National Honor Society induction ceremony. No one could possibly think otherwise. The candles were lit one by one as the well-qualified representatives of the past year's society explained the significance of scholarship, leadership, service, and character. Following the speeches, each of the newly elected members was presented with his pin by Mr. Collins.

The members of this society are: Richard Casey, Patricia Downey, Roger Hanson, Barbara Kiley, Donald Lints, Marion MacLeod, Dorothy Manley, Marvin Martin, Jean Nelson, Redmond O'Brien, Donald Stroberg, Mildred Teixeira, Robert Thomson, Jean Virgona, and Donald Young.

President, Roger Hanson; vice-president, Marion MacLeod; secretary, Dorothy Manley; treasurer, Donald Lints.

TRAFFIC SQUAD

Three pairs of eyes shift furtively to the wall clock. Click! They quietly slip out of the room to their sentry posts. By two's and three's others come out of rooms and separate. The captain checks and double checks. Everything is ready.

At the bell signal for changing of classes the traffic squad is mobilized on all floors. This service organization provides for the school a regulating mechanism to keep sensible order in the corridors. Concentrating their forces in the most congested area, they are able to act as guide-posts without even moving or speaking.

The rush of late students, the trouble of going to a first floor post, the cheerful poke in the ribs from friends who sneak up behind them—all contribute to the "work" of being a traffic officer, and yet, the pay is good. Two minutes of class time at the end of each period is the pay which the officers receive, and they seem quite satisfied with it. Of course, they are really glad to offer their services, and to inconvenience themselves, for, if one should examine records carefully, the traffic officers are the type of kids who engage in extra work in many of the varied school activities. Often, they are among the most outstanding members of the class.

NORTH STAR

Just as Quincy is part of the "Hub of the Universe", with branches of influence extending from it in all directions, so Room 320 is the center of all North Star activity, with tentacles of influence radiating from it to all parts of the school and far beyond its borders. Room 320 is the nucleus and coordinating link between the journalistic, advertising, and circulation branches of the Staff. It is there that Mr. Irving Sclarencio, sponsor and faculty advisor for the Star delves into the mysteries and problems of newspaper publication and invariably comes up with the right answers.

If Room 320 wanted to talk, it would probably say something like this: "All day long I watch over the classes that sit in my chairs and use my desks. When 2:30 finally comes, I think 'maybe I can relax now and gird my strength for tomorrow's work.' But no. No sooner are classes over than twenty or thirty more students pile in to argue, shout, plan, and keep me from getting the rest I deserve after a hard day's work. Don't those kids ever go home?"

Yes, Room 320, they do go home. But soon they're back to plan bigger and better editions of the North Star.

HI-Y

It is Tuesday night and the clan is gathering. A little horse-play in one corner, and a bull session in another slow down and come to a halt as the last ones come in. Then the meeting begins. "Gentlemen, we have tonight as guest speaker Mr."

Thus it is that President Steve Erwin conducts a typical Hi-Y meeting at the Quincy Y.M.C.A. Or, perhaps there is no guest speaker; in this case, there might be a group discussion among the boys concerning one of the topics suggested by the sponsoring institution. Then, sometimes, these Junior and Senior boys from North meet jointly with a similar group from a neighboring high school. And just think—no girls allowed!

What? You think the boys might miss the girls? Well, I guess they do a little, for along with the rights, privileges, and obvious advantages of being a stag club, the boys have found a way to eliminate the disadvantages. Occasional joint meetings with North's Tri-Hi-Y are looked forward to, of course, like summer vacations. Even better, though, are the annual dances.

TRI-HI-Y

Early last September, if you saw a group of girls wandering around school with thoughtful, perplexed expressions on their faces, you could probably tell that those girls were thinking up various stunts for the initiation of the poor new Tri-Hi-Y members. The initiation, however, wasn't so bad as it sounded, and it surely started off a memorable year of good times for the girls.

The purpose of this organization is to establish a better soul, mind, and body in each girl; consequently, all the girls' activities and fun are based on this triangle. That fun can be mixed with education the girls found out through listening to Shirley Cain's exciting talk on her unique visit to Paris, and seeing timely movies at almost every meeting. For pure fun, these lucky girls arranged most enjoyable record hops with the Hi-Y's of both high schools, a splash party which, though held in early, cold March, held plenty of fun for everyone, and an Alumni meeting which gave the past Tri-Hi-Y members a chance to see how "this younger generation" was carrying on for them. Away from home, six of the forty-five loyal members tramped to the Reading Convention for Tri-Hi-Y's. But, from the remarks that were heard, the trip was well worth it, because nothing could touch the fun they all had there.

Largely responsible for this entertaining years are these:

RIFLE CLUB

On certain afternoons we can hear strange noises coming from the Quincy School. Being curious, we decide to investigate. "Look out! They're armed! There's Mr. Beede. Is he training kids for guerrilla warfare? Oh, I know—it's the Rifle Club practice."

A little questioning reveals that it is here one of North's most popular clubs holds its "meetings." Perhaps the nature of these meetings in part accounts for the club's popularity. Here the guys and gals (yes, sir!) shoot the 22's and compare targets. With the newly renovated range, a large number of riflemen can shoot at one time. The club practices are the meeting places for both novice and marksmen.

The goal of all faithful North sharpshooters is a place on the Rifle Team. The best of the club members get to compete with Quincy, Braintree, Malden, and Melrose for shooting honors. With such men as Joe Curran, Julian Whitney, Red O'Brien, Bob Colligan, Perry Smoot, and Roger Hanson, the team this year is one of the best ever.

BOWLING CLUB

"Yippee! a strike!"

"Hurray! a spare!"

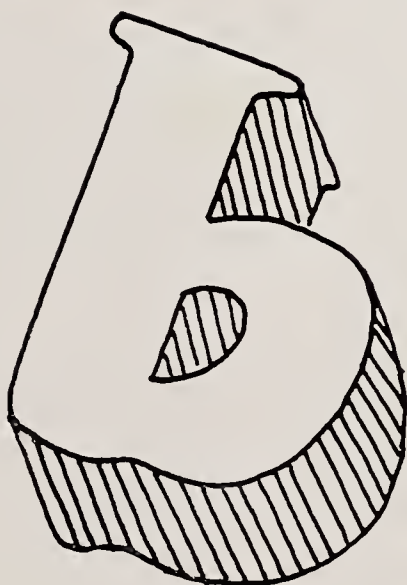

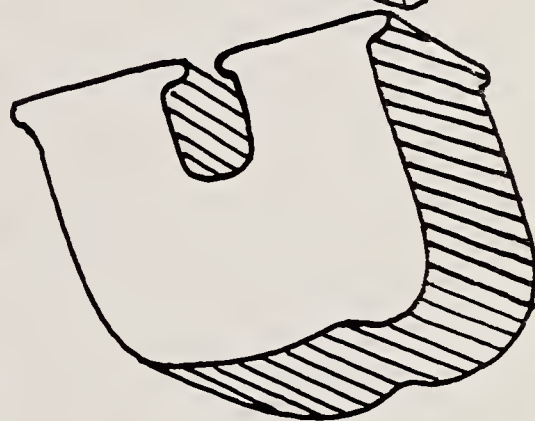

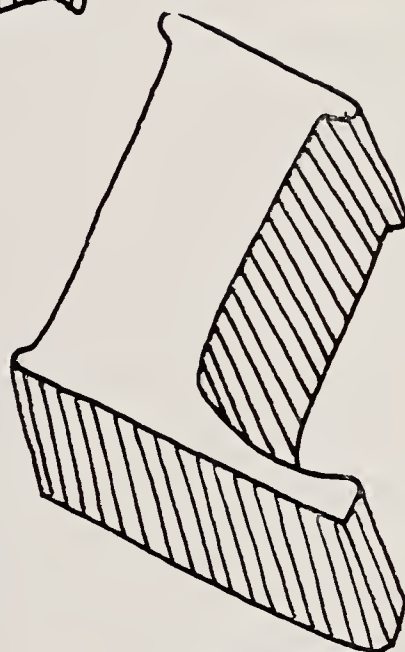

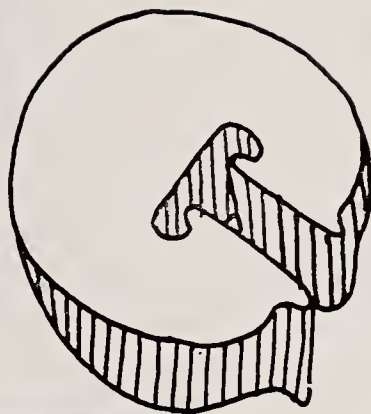

"Ha! this makes my average 126!"

On Monday and Thursday afternoons these cries issue from the doors of the Norfolk Downs bowling alleys, but not very often. No, we don't pretend that the Bowling Club produces crack shots to whom strikes and 126 averages are usual things, but we do maintain that it provides a lot of fun for a lot of girls. In fact, the Bowling Club has the distinction of being one of the few clubs whose members don't have to be coerced into coming to meetings. Since November sixteen teams with six girls on each have been gathering at the alleys to curse the pins, the ball, the foul line, the warp in the alley, the scorekeeper, and the other teams. In spite of these obstacles, the girls have succeeded in producing high scores up to 112 at the time of this writing. For incentive, little gold pins shaped like the number 300 are awarded for scoring a total of 270 points in three strings.

On a warm afternoon of last fall the order of the day was dungarees and shirts, for approximately sixty girls were embarking on their first activity of the year, a picnic in Squantum. . . . Then, just before Christmas vacation, clad now in ski suits and boots, they presented their annual Christmas play, which is always written by one of their own playwrights and presented by their own future actresses. . . . In the early part of February, having changed dungarees and ski suits for flowing gowns, they are attending their Valentine semi-formal, "Belles and Beaux" . . . Still another change of clothing came in March when the girls presented the Splash Party. The aquatically minded girls wore their prettiest bathing suits. The Splash Party provided in addition swimming, dancing, ping pong, and other indoor sports.

However, the many activities of the Girls' Club include service as well as social events. At Thanksgiving the annual welfare collection was made and Christmas was crowded with activities. To the welfare collection was added another collection for European children. Also at Christmas the Girls' Club sponsored a small group of students who went to the Pollard School to perform for the pupils there. Probably the best illustration of the two phases of membership in the club—service and pleasure—is the Red Cross Show held in April. While having fun performing in the show, the talented students also raised money for a worthwhile cause. Our thanks for such a wonderful year go to Miss Sisson, faculty advisor; Pat Downey, president; Mary Dunlop, vice-president; Barbara Morrison, secretary; and Margie Luce, treasurer.

HOMEROOM REPRESENTATIVES

Was there anything here at North this year that you didn't like? If there was, you are as much to blame as anyone, for you had a wonderful opportunity to improve any aspect of the school that you thought was wrong. This opportunity was given to you and your fellow students when your homeroom representatives sat in at Council meetings and reported back to you the problems that had arisen and solicited your help in solving them.

There couldn't possibly be any senior who is dissatisfied with this year, for the seniors had double-barreled representation. In addition to the Student Council representatives, they had homeroom representatives to the Senior Class. These representatives helped the class officers decide on important matters like the prom committee, and graduation. Each representative talked over these vital matters with his homeroom members so that all seniors and not just a few would be handling the affairs of the class.

These representatives have made our school life a co-operative affair, in which all students share willingly.

PROM COMMITTEE

The Prom Committee, with Jack Walker as general chairman, gave the senior class one of the finest Senior Proms that any class at North has ever had. May 20th was chosen as the date and the Quincy Armory for the place. Paul Crowley and his committee arranged for the colorful and unusual Hawaiian decorations. Steve Erwin was able to secure the fine orchestra of Freddy Guerra, whose music was greatly enjoyed all evening. The invitation committee, headed by Jane Raymond, took care of the programs, invited the guests, and organized the receiving line. The prom favors were outstanding. The favor committee, with Barbara Arnold as chairman, chose dainty little bracelets with an N.Q.H.S. emblem on them. A word of thanks goes to Dick Casey who visited the senior homerooms every Monday and Friday, gathering the class dues so that we could make the Prom not only a social but a financial success.

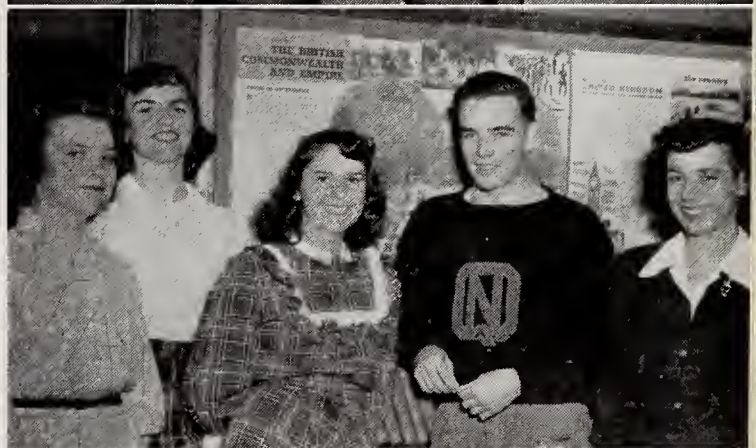

SPANISH CLUB

¿Como està Vd?

Do you know what that means? If not, ask any of the señors or señoritas who were in el club de Español. These Spanish-speaking experts, under the guidance of Señor Walsh, use the language they study at the meetings. The main purpose of the Club is to make the members more familiar with every-day Spanish. The atmosphere at the monthly meetings is friendly and informal, with a social gathering following the business meeting.

¡Comanos!

Translated for you, that means, "Let's Eat!" That was the cry heard (more in English than in Spanish) at the supper held in the spring. All the foods on the menu were Spanish and were prepared by our own cooks from South American recipes. For all the students who want to know more about Spanish and to learn how to use it more informally, membership in the Spanish Club is just the thing.

HISTORY CLUB

One of the most interesting and educational of North's activities is the History Club, sponsored by Miss Pratt. Although the members have met but once a month, they have heard lectures on our own city, Mexico, and China; seen technicolor movies on Central America, Alaska, and Eire; taken a trip to Lexington, Concord, and Bunker Hill (including a stop at the Wayside Inn), and concluded the season with a picnic at Miss Pratt's camp.

Under new rules drawn up this year, History Club presidents will be elected the year before they are scheduled to take office. Another new rule makes dropping those members that miss more than three meetings mandatory; however, the necessity for such a rule is doubtful.

President, Redmond O'Brien; Vice-President, Marion White; Treasurer, Joseph Curran; Secretary, Genevieve O'Neil; Reporter, Carolyn Flock.

STUDENT SECRETARIAL STAFF

It is 3:30 of a bright and sunny spring afternoon. The school is quiet, almost forlorn, and from its corridors the sounds of children playing outside seem overloud. Most of the rooms are bare of life, teachers and pupils alike having left for a few hours of well-deserved rest while the day is still light and warm.

In Room 302, however, the beauty of the day and the lateness of the hour is unobserved amid the great activity going on. In one corner of the room, under the guidance and supervision of Miss Lillian Gormley, two girls are mimeographing the programs for the next assembly. At one of the tables an anxious student is cleaning a stencil that has already been run. In the middle of the room a few girls are watching a test being "dittoed", with pity in their hearts for the students to whom it is destined. Other girls are typing letters, running errands, and coloring the assembly programs as they come from the machine. What is all this activity? Why, the Student Secretarial Staff in action, of course.

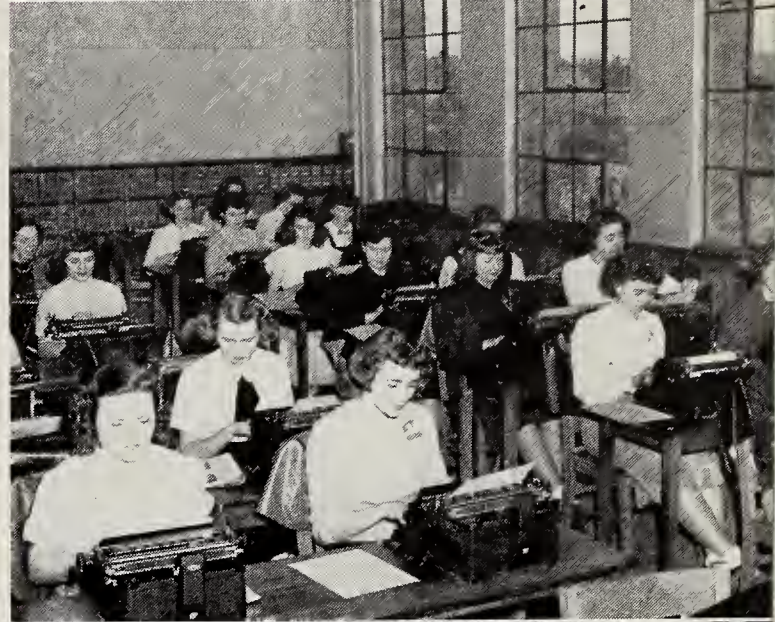

LIBRARY STAFF

Behind the curtain of silence in the library you'll find North's Library Staff working industriously checking books in and out or digging out back issues of magazines. They can often be seen almost hidden by towering stacks of books which they must put away in their correct places. During study periods these girls must decode hastily scribbled names or try to track down pupils who invariably write their homeroom numbers instead of the study room's.

All work and no play is certainly not the motto of the Library Staff; their program is well-balanced. The highlight of their social year was the Mothers' Tea. This year everything had that "south of the border" touch for colored slides on Mexico were shown by Miss Pratt. The invitations were appropriate too, decorated with small figures of a little boy under a big sombrero. Some of the other social events included a theatre party when the staff saw Inside U.S.A. and also a joint meeting with library staff members from other high schools. The staff year closed as always with a picnic at Miss Pratt's summer home. The girls go strictly informal in old dungarees and shirts for a day of fun, roasting franks and marshmallows over an open fire-place and camping out among the pines.

The Library Staff offers the girls in grades nine through twelve the opportunity to be of valuable service to the school and to obtain good training in library work.

The officers for this year were: President, Ethel Whelan; Vice-President, Jacqueline Dowling; Secretary, Janice Leavitt; Treasurer, Jane Raymond.

GIRLS' SPORTS

North Quincy High's gym is suddenly awakened by fresh voices. The floor is filled with girls guarding and guiding the ball into the basket. A sharp whistle stops the game for a second or two, then the struggle is on again. Thrills? Excitement? Enjoyment? All these are wrapped up in one when the girls from North empty into the gym on Wednesday afternoons to try their hand at basketball.

It's a beautiful spring day with an aura of spring fever in the air. But the teams lined up on the field show no sign of spring fever. Wham! goes the bat against the ball. The ball flies through the air. Home run? A thrill of suspense runs up your spine as you watch the ball slowly fall—into the outfielder's glove! One out and two to go! What a game! But it's only a part of the fun the girls' softball team enjoys.

The net is set up. Teams line up and the first serve is underway. The volley ball bounces back and forth from one side of the net to the other. While it stays in the air, shouts resound through the gym from both teams. When the ball falls to bounce in the floor, groans from one side arise while joyful shouts from the other side echo in your ears. Yes, volley ball is about the most exciting and stimulating ball game there is.

The scene is again the gym. The props—ping pong tables and badminton nets—are slightly different. The girls bound from one side of the table to another for a microscopic size ball now—not a basketball. Again in the middle of the gym, the fun-seekers are jumping not for a ball—but for a bird. Yes, the badminton bird. So, you see, these sports vary not only in actions but also in utensils.

BIOLOGY CLUB

In Room 424 on one afternoon a week—usually Wednesday—you can find an interested group examining or discussing any specimen in the Biology laboratory. Besides its discussions and examinations, this group, the Biology Club, has also made several exciting trips to such places as the Sharon Bird Sanctuary, the Sportsman's Show, Wood's Hole, and to the shore where the members discovered many intriguing specimens to add to their collection. All these trips were made under the plans of William Pickard, trip planner.

Back in Room 424, during the weekly meetings, a brief business meeting is conducted by Theodore Reed, chairman. Following this, one member gives a talk on some biological subject which especially interests him. Frequently, these talks are enlivened by illustrations and movies.

All these trips, meetings, talks, and movies stimulate the interest of these young people. These activities keep their minds alert to new happenings around them and make these future doctors, nurses, teachers, biologists, and scientists well aware of the growing importance of that intriguing science, biology.

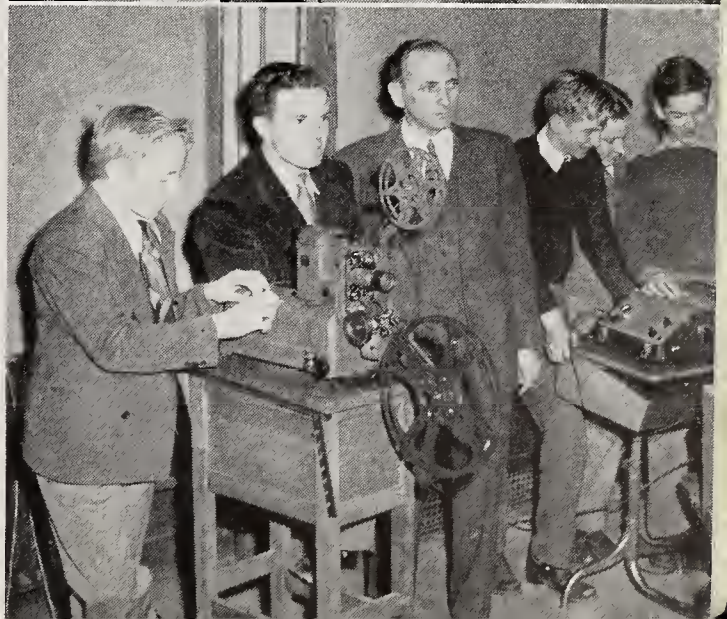

MOTION PICTURE OPERATORS' CLUB

Lights! Camera! Action! Presenting the Motion Picture Operators' Club, one of the busiest service organizations of the school. Under the direction of Mr. Forest the club has had another busy year.

If a student strolls into room 330 after school he may find a group of boys watching intently at the projector, while president Douglas Reddy explains the operation. These boys are learning the complicated mechanism of the projector, for, before they are admitted into full membership, they must learn their first machine.

As a service to the school, this club supplies trained operators for the showing of films for auditorium assemblies and classroom instruction. It is this group, too, which keeps the broadcasting system, the lifeline of the school, in working order.

This year the club sponsored a series of afternoon movies to raise money for the club treasury. Students enthusiastically supported the presentation of The House on 92nd Street, which was shown after school to all comers for fifteen cents.

FUTURE TEACHERS CAREER CLUB

Under the direction of Miss Welch some of the students in the senior high have tried to learn more about the teaching profession. Although there has been close association between the students and teachers, the students have a rather incomplete picture of the scope of the profession. Many of the members of the club have already formulated definite plans as to the phase of teaching for which they wish to prepare. The program of the club is designed to aid its members in deciding the branch of teaching for which they are best suited. Plans for the year include visits to different types of schools. These specialized schools include Perkins Institute for the Blind, schools for the deaf and the handicapped. Plans have also been made for a panel discussion by teachers concerning their own point of views in teaching. Since the advisor and the members realize that teaching, even more than some other professions, demands a well-rounded, well-balanced person, the schedule includes lectures and theatre parties to build the foundation of the multi-faceted interest a teacher must have.

SKETCH CLUB

It was two weeks before Christmas, but the school had not yet entered into the holiday spirit. In one room, however, preparations were being made for a magical transformation. This room looked more like a florist shop, for the Sketch Club had recently brought in several carloads of evergreens. The club members, with Miss Sawitsky, put their artistic genius to work and created some very attractive evergreen sprays to decorate all the classrooms. Along with other work, which incidentally includes everything from lettering scholarship awards to making decorations for dances, they took time out to paint a very impressive winter scene for the Christmas assembly.

Have you noticed that North's library has definitely taken on the "new look" this year? Again we must bow to the Sketch Club. Attractive arrangement of book-jackets combined with original ideas in decorating made the bulletin boards really eye-catching. These would-be Rembrandts have a sense of humor, too, and when some of the club's cartoonists produce interesting pictorial caricatures of their fellow artists, it's good for fun and lots of laughs.

They have served us well, the Sketch Club, and contributed much color to school events.

ORCHESTRA

During third period Thursday twelve instrumentalists meet in 402. These are North's contribution to the high school orchestra formed in Quincy's senior highs. The members from North are violinists: Jacqueline Dupont 1, Gilbert Darois 1, Janet Gilmartin 2, Doris Kile 2, Leonard Snyder 1, Louis Snyder 1. Clarinetists: William Bernardi, Bruce McGlashan. Trumpet: Allan Halburg, Harold Hurley. Pianists: Teresa Shea, Carol Dunham. Cellist: Edward Mann. Saxophone: Herbert Mahn. Many of these musicians started their instructions through the Quincy music system. A few of the members of band who are seriously interested in music have joined the orchestra.

During this year the orchestra has participated in two major events. The first of these was the Squantum School dedication at which they combined with the Quincy High instrumentalists to form a well balanced orchestra. At the climax of North's musical season, the Spring Concert and Dance, North's orchestra opened the program.

THE GLEE CLUB

The Glee Club at North is its own severest critic. The seventy-two members know what they want and how to achieve it. Nothing short of perfection will satisfy them—perfection of tone, timing, enunciation, and expression.

Discouragement is not part of their makeup. They come to rehearsals with a genuine love of music and an appreciation and enthusiasm not to be surpassed.

Such selections as "The Lord's Prayer" and those from "The Messiah" are favorites in the Glee Club because they bring out the true beauty of good harmony.

Officers are: President, Greville Wood; Vice-President, Constance Sweeney; Secretary, Dorothy Manley; Treasurer, Robert Wayward; Business Managers, Ethel Whelan and Robert Collagan. Miss Fitts is the director.

During the year the Glee Club has sung before the D.A.R. and the Wollaston School P.T.A., and has participated in the Eastern Massachusetts Music Festival in May.

BAND AND DRUM-MAJORETTES

It is a clear, bright, cold day. The sun is shining in our eyes, and the wind is cutting across our ears, making us wonder what good the extra blankets are going to be. In short, we are uncomfortable. But suddenly a pulse-stopping blast shatters the air; we leap to our feet, and train our eyes on the expanse of brown green before us. Here they come! Trumpets blare and drums roll as North's band marches snappily onto the field making us gasp in admiration. Stepping high and proud before the band come the drum-majorettes resplendent in gleaming white and gold, dashing red and black. No one can say that such a result is not worth the weeks of plain, ordinary hard work.

DRILL TEAM

Here are twenty-six snappy majorettes! Yes, these girls in their colorful red and black uniforms make up North's drill team. These girls have added color and increased the school spirit at the football games.

These twirlers not only must master such twirls as "the figure eight", "hand-over-hand", and "the three-finger" but also must acquire grace, poise, and coordination. This precision twirling requires hours of long, hard practice, every night after school and before every game. It means a lot of sacrifice on the part of the girls and their director, Miss McCoy, to perfect the unique routine that they present.

Every senior will leave North with the memory of the unforgettable Thanksgiving Day game. It will be remembered not only for the victory but also for the fascinating and colorful twirling demonstration. As the "Star Spangled Banner" was played by the combined "red & blacks" of North and the "blue & whites" of Quincy, the threatening storm clouds passed over and the sun shone down on one of the most impressive sights ever seen in the stadium.

The drill team also took part in the Spring Concert and in the annual Music Festival.

JUNIOR CLASS OFFICERS

To make the junior year a memorable one is the purpose of the Junior Class Officers, and this is exactly what they have done. Under the leadership of Ellen Reardon, the first "Madame-president" North's Juniors have ever had, Bob Stevenson, treasurer, and Claire Adams, secretary, the juniors of '49 have had a year of fun.

Guided by Miss McCoy, the junior class has replenished the treasury through two successful dances "The Jack O'Lantern Jump", as you can probably guess, was a real Halloween celebration, with pumpkins and witches decorating the gym. The second dance of the year was the elegant "Winter Waltz." The highlight of the evening was a shower of gaily-colored balloons.

A memorable occasion for every junior is the acquisition of his class ring. The corridors were filled with excited voices as the juniors, disdainfully snubbing the year-old rings of the seniors, proudly displayed their shiny ornaments. This was the climax to a year of fun.

SENIOR CLASS

Did you know that the "Gold Rush" was not in California at all? No, it was right here at North. Of course, we're speaking of our first informal dance of the year which was on October 16th. Favors and decorations were appropriately made in the shape of gold bags and tucked in each was a penny. Everyone must have really "struck it rich" too,—judging from some of the comments on the lobster at Cain's, after the dance. Our second dance, the "Pansy Promenade", was held in the gymnasium March 19th.

Another highlight of the year was Class Day—when the seniors took over the school—rushing frantically around to get yearbooks signed. The Planning Committee came up with some really different ideas in entertainment, too.

May 20th was the date set for the most-talked-of event of the year and the Prom Committee went to work enthusiastically. The long-awaited night finally arrived and the Prom was an occasion to remember always, with the girls in their chic evening gowns looking as if they had stepped out of a Paris fashion shop, and the boys definitely formal in their tuxes.

The '49ers, working together, made our senior year a huge success.

ATHLETICS

Although hampered by early season injuries, North Quincy's football team again had a successful season in 1948. In an early scrimmage, North lost its stellar halfback and backer-up, Paul McGuiggan. Thus, the remaining lettermen, Jack Gilbody, Bob Welch, Joe Collins, and Paul Bohannon, had their work cut out for them. Early in the first quarter of the Braintree game, North lost another key man, Steve Erwin; however, Coach Donahue was fortunate to come up with such untested ends as Al Von Dette and Ronnie Wray. This left North's lineup as follows: John Marr, Al Von Dette, Ronnie Wray, ends; Ray Doherty, Charlie DiBona, Joe Collins, tackles; John Wright, Larry Creedon, guards; Paul Bohannon, center; Jack Gilbody, Bob Welch, Bob Jensen, Dick Worthley, Chick Nelson, John Santosuosso, Chub Young, backs.

In the season's opener, North beat Braintree 7-0. Following defeats at the hands of Dedham, 0-13, and powerful Weymouth, 0-20, North beat Hingham, 28-7, with Gilbody setting up two touchdowns on long runs. The following Saturday, Worthley set a new scoring record for most points scored by a North player in one game by scoring four touchdowns on runs of 62,—58,—44, and 13 yards to lead North over Danvers 27-6. Next came the clash with Milton and the Raiders were turned back for the first time in 13 years, 13-7. North matched Milton's first score late in the first half on a well executed pass from Gilbody to Young. In the final minutes, Milton scored again to break up the season battle. North got back on the winning trial by burying Winthrop, 33-7. On Armistice Day North visited Norwood and came off the field with a hard fought, well earned, 21-12 victory. Good blocking up front, Santosuosso's powerful line backing, which accounted for three touchdowns, and the return of McGuiggan and Erwin sparked the victory. As the big game with Quincy approached, the professional dopesters and majority of fans didn't give North a chance to win. The Raiders won the toss, received, and made a quick first down, but Quincy's Granville intercepted a pass racing 63 yards to the North four before Doherty caught him. On the fourth try, Quincy finally pushed it over and the fans thought that the rout was on. But North came right back going to the Quincy two where Worthley stepped out after receiving a pass. Hampered by a penalty, the Red and Black failed to score, but on Quincy's series of downs a fumbled pass from center resulted in a safety and two points for North. In the third period, Welch intercepted on Quincy's 27 setting up a North 10. After a first down pass interference occurred on the two from where Santosuosso bucked over on second down. Although Quincy threatened in the final minutes, the great defensive play of McGuiggan and Welch along with the all around play of Frank Dodd, starting his first game, supplemented the overpowering charge of the forward will to pull the great upset 8-6. Another winning season, 6 wins and 3 losses, was claimed by a game all North fans will long remember.

TO

BASKETBALL

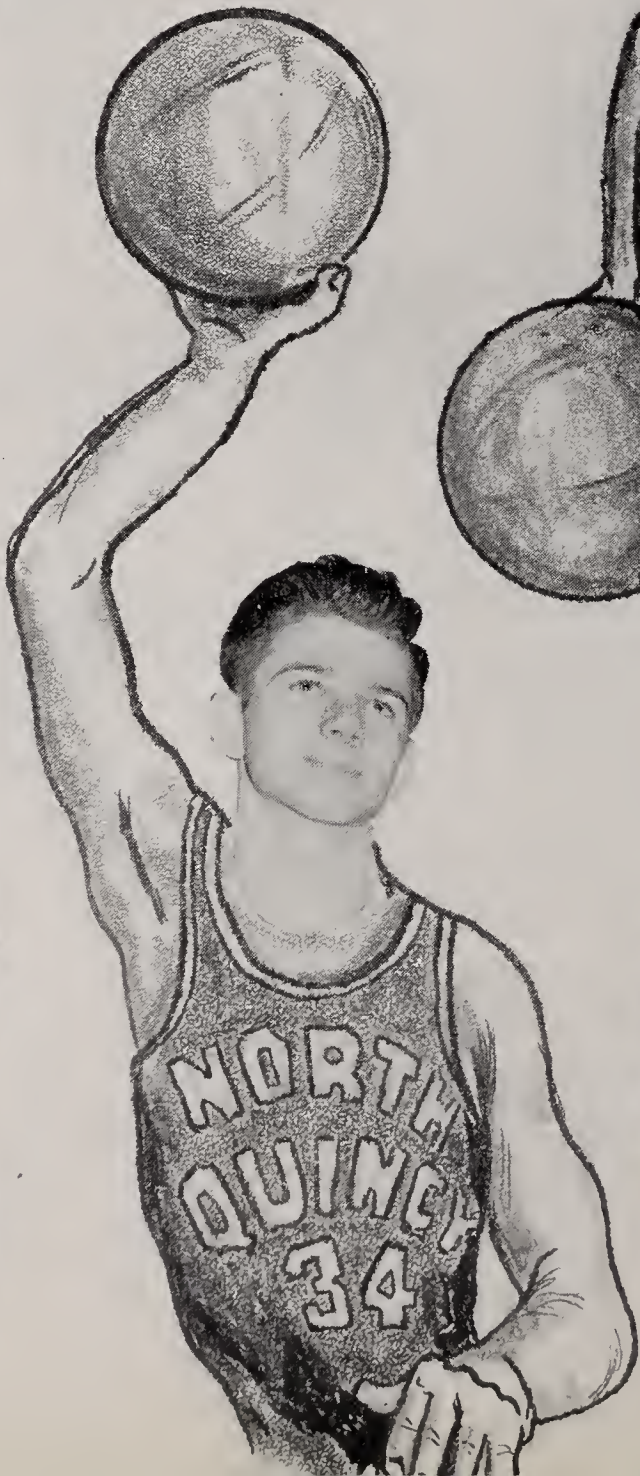

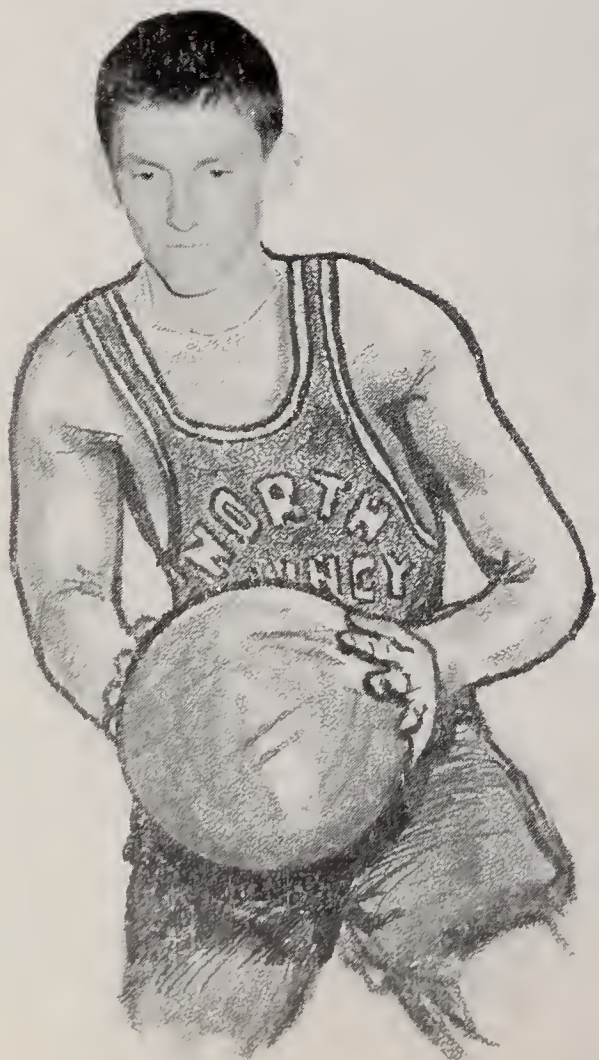

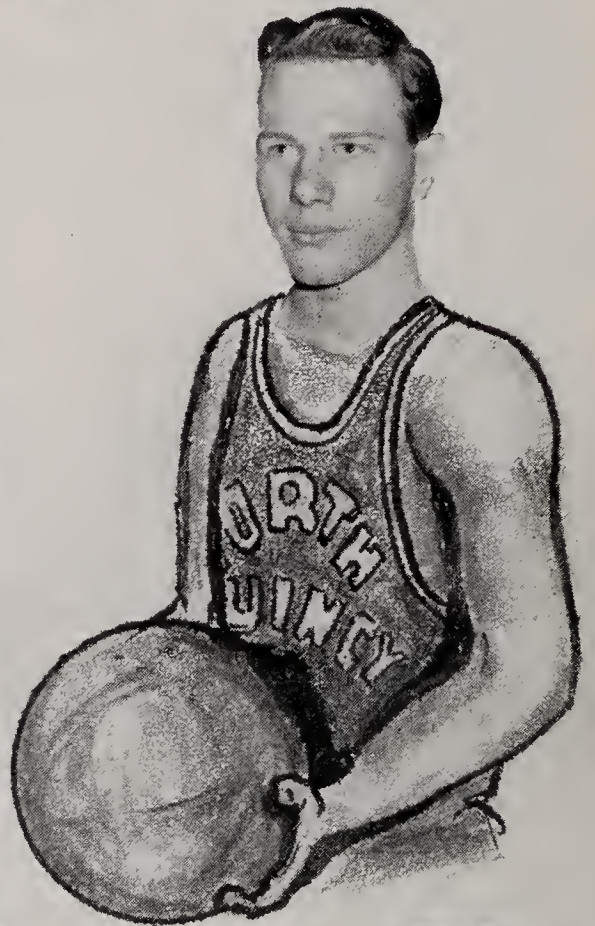

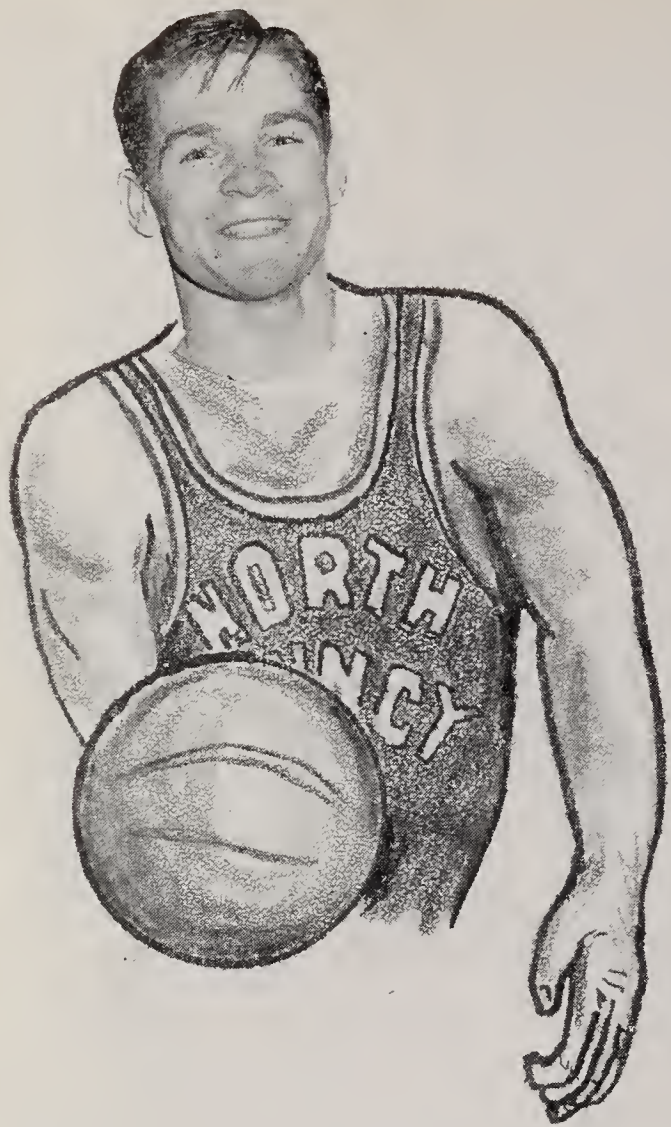

At the start of the season Coach John Mullarkey welcomed no lettermen, a handful of last year's J.V.'s, and a host of boys out for the first time with which to mold his 1949 team. These J.V.'s included Pete Kracala, Bob Welch, Don Stroberg, Bruce Oliver, Jack Gilbody, John Marr, Ron Parsons, Paul McGuiggan, and Bob Jensen. Outstanding contenders in their first year out for the team were Dick Worthley, Bob Player, Dick McLaughlin, and Gus Cuneo, the latter a promising sophomore.

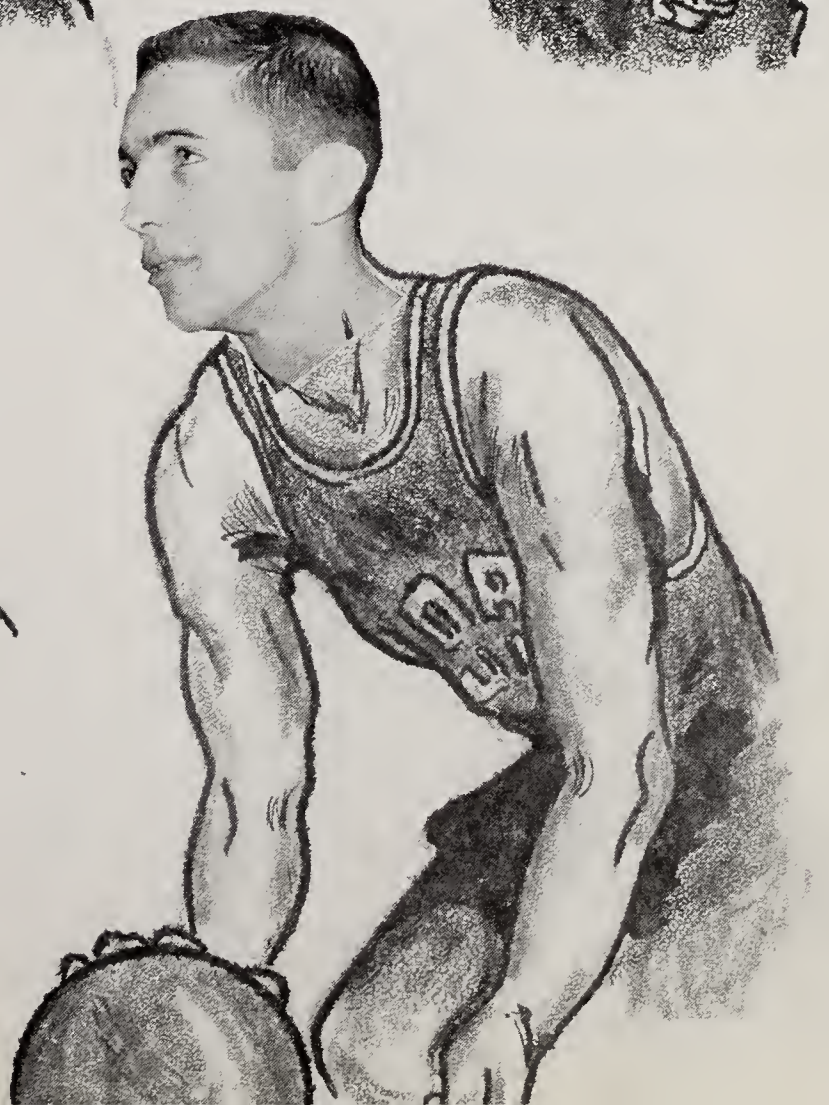

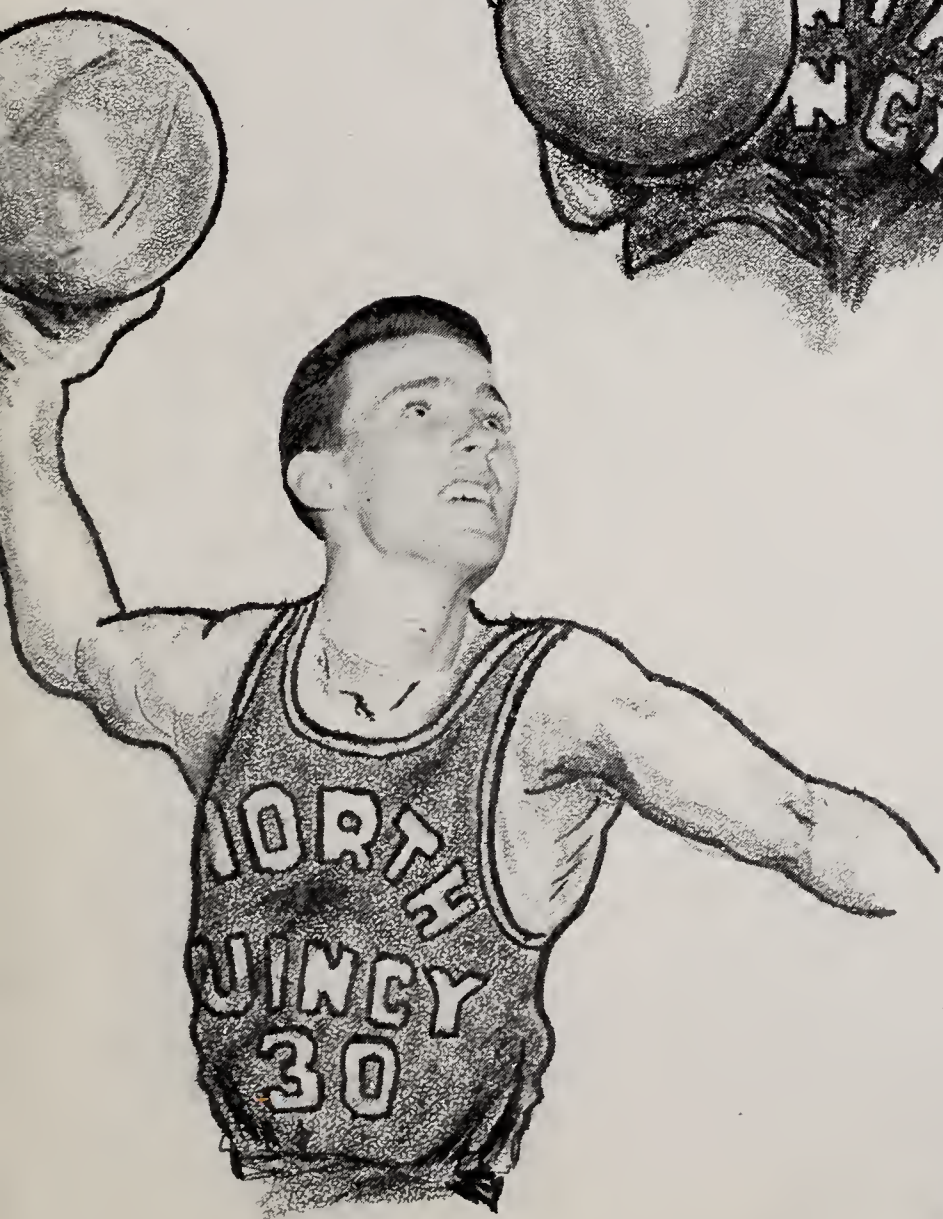

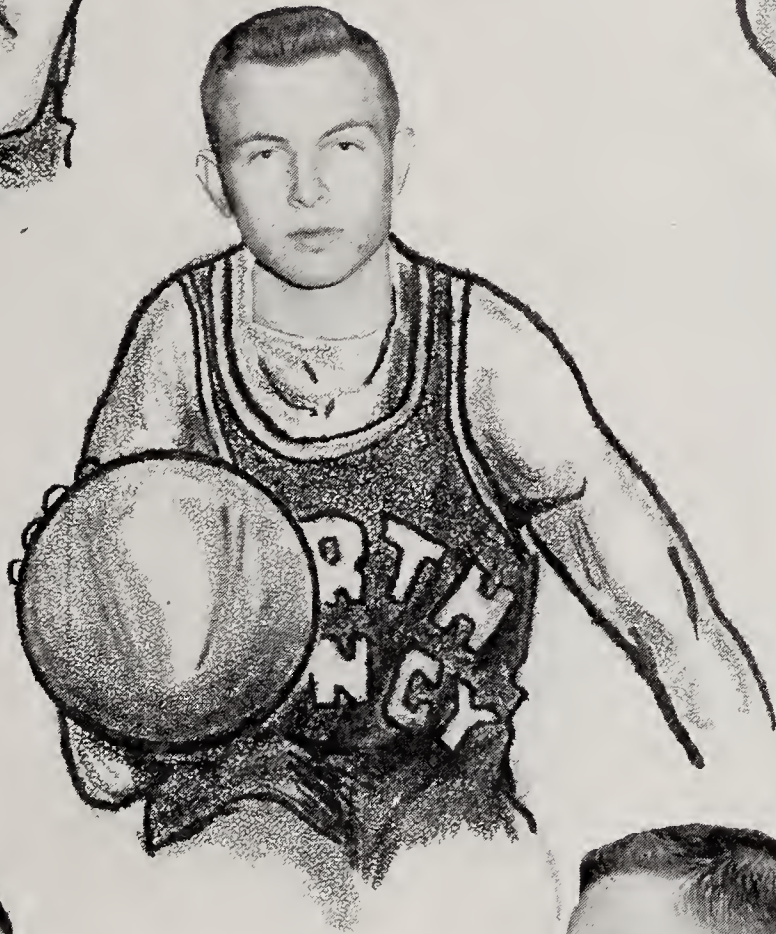

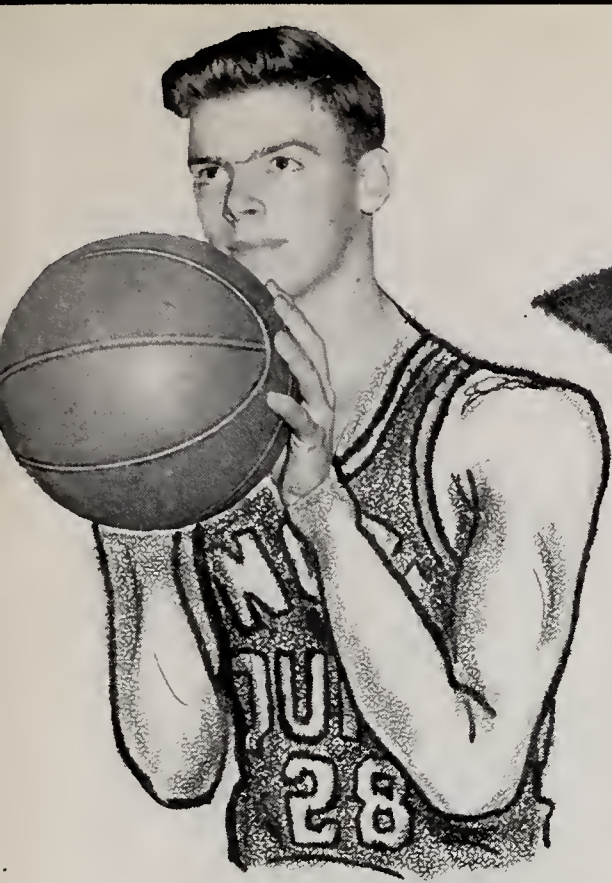

Three straight losses to outstanding opposition was a poor beginning, but the Raiders caught fire winning their next three straight. After another defeat, North showed signs of improvement in a tough loss to Brockton. Coach Mullarkey started using a platoon system in this encounter and while they played, the senior quintet, comprised of Welch, McGuiggan, Kracala, Parsons, and Stroberg, did an outstanding job in outscoring their Brockton foes. Still improving, North looked better in their second start against tourney bound Braintree. The Red & Black bounced back to take Brookline and then journeyed to New Bedford where Worthley's 17 points just failed to overcome a long lead. At Boston Garden North played its best game up to that point against Dover. Kracala's 11 first half points gave the team a good start, and Welch and Player carried the team in the second half, contributing heavily to the scoring while doing a great job at freezing the ball to gain a close victory. A heart-breaking loss in overtime to Thayer preceded a pair of victories against Worcester Trade and Weymouth. One hundred per cent improvement was shown in these three games with all the boys sharing the spotlight in the two high scoring triumphs. After a great fight, North succumbed to Tech bound Attleboro. A one point loss to Brockton was followed by the final game against Quincy. This was by far North's best game of the season. The greater Boston League Champs had to come from behind to grab a three point verdict. Kept in the game by Worthley's excellent goal-shooting, the Raiders caught fire in the second half and fought the heavily favored Blues right down to the final gun. In the last quarter the lead changed hands several times as the Raiders continued to play great ball. The last game for Welch, Kracala, Stroberg, and McGuiggan was a great team effort for all which indicated that North had a better team than most observers gave them credit for.

GOLF

Of all the Athletic organizations at North the one which maintains the best record from season to season is the golf team. Last year's team was no exception garnering the Norfolk County League Championship. From there under the captaincy of Fordie Pitts they went on to win the High School Interscholastic Championship or the state with a record of sixteen matches without a defeat. This year's team has the potentialities for retaining these titles. Another undefeated schedule could be had at the expense of the following eight teams with whom matches have already been scheduled: Brockton, Quincy, Norwood, Walpole, Dedham, Needham, Canton and Boston College High. The nucleus of this year's squad will be returning veterans Bill McCarthy and Bob Berard. Coach Donahue expects his promising substitutes from last year's championship team to take up the slack caused by the graduation of the many stars of last year's team. These reserves include Jack Leary, Don McNiece, and Dick Manning. The responsibility of maintaining the high standing and prestige North has in golf circles falls on the backs, or rather the arms, of these lads. We students at North are able to look forward to another winning season for the golf team.

HOCKEY

Under its new coach, Dave Hourin, North's hockey team is rapidly becoming a power on the South Shore. In the season's opener Weymouth tied North 4-4 by scoring in the last 15 seconds. Jack Gilbody scored two of the North goals in this game and scored the goal which beat Whitman 1-0. In a return game against Weymouth, Gilbody scored two goals and Walter Hannon scored one to give the Red and Black a 3-1 victory. North suffered its first defeat at the hands of Hingham 2-1. However they bounded back blanking Milton 2-0 as Jim McGhan and Gilbody scored.

Even though Frank Carroll was tremendous in the North nets the Raiders were dumped unceremoniously by Quincy during the team's first encounter. After being nipped by Milton 3-2 North's hockey team traveled to the arena for the first time to again meet the blue of Quincy. Gilbody brought the crowd to its feet by making a solo dash in the last 55 seconds to score the game's only goal giving North a hard-fought and well-deserved 1-0 win.

Supplementing North's first line of Gilbody, Hannon and McGhan, the defense of Red Caswell and Art Carey and the goalie, Carroll, are Bob Newcomb, Don Bussell, Gerry Welch, Tom Girvin, Don Legge, Dick Gallagher, Jack Murray and Tom Adams. Coach says that if North can win its fair share of postponed games with Hingham, Brockton and Whitman they can improve their third place standing and get a shot at the title.

TRACK

The North Quincy track team of 1948-1949 started the winter season under discouraging conditions, with no place to train except in school corridors and on cement sidewalks and with Warren Holmberg the only letter man not on the sick list. After dropping two meets to strong Brookline and Weymouth teams, North entered the Metropolitan Track League. By hard work, considerable luck, and the addition of some new material including Ray Doherty, a fine shot putter, the team was able to win over Cambridge Latin, Malden Catholic and Revere while losing to Rindge Tech and Watertown.

The Spring team was potentially a good one with possible record breakers in Holmberg and Doherty. The high jumpers included Gordon Grace and Brigham Pemberton while Tim and Tom Neville headed up the broad jumpers, and with Bruce Mutch and Dave O'Dowd constituted the sprint squad. Dick Blundell teamed with Ray Doherty in the shot put while the longer runs were handled by Warren Holmberg. Fred Kelley, Bill Carroll, Mel Studley, Paul Murphy and Jimmy Kilpatrick.

North's 1948 Cross-Country team duplicated the five wins and one loss record of the 1947 harriers in spite of a very poor turn-out at the start of the season. Only three letter men were left from 1947 including Captain Layman, who, because of illness, was unable to compete after the second meet of 1949. The entire squad consisted of 14 men, contrasting unfavorably with teams of the past when there were more than 40 candidates each season.

Credit must go to a group of Juniors, Bill Carroll, Warren Holmberg, Louis Chinzi, Paul Murphy and Jimmy Kilpatrick who ran together in the 10th grade. Showing the result of a year's training, running well bunched, they were able to place close to the front in most meets. Though they took only one first place in the entire season, these men, with the able assistance of Fred Kelly, Jody Burnham, Mell Studley and Tom Sullivan, lost only to a good Brockton team and won over Milton, Rockland, Brookline, Weymouth and Quincy.

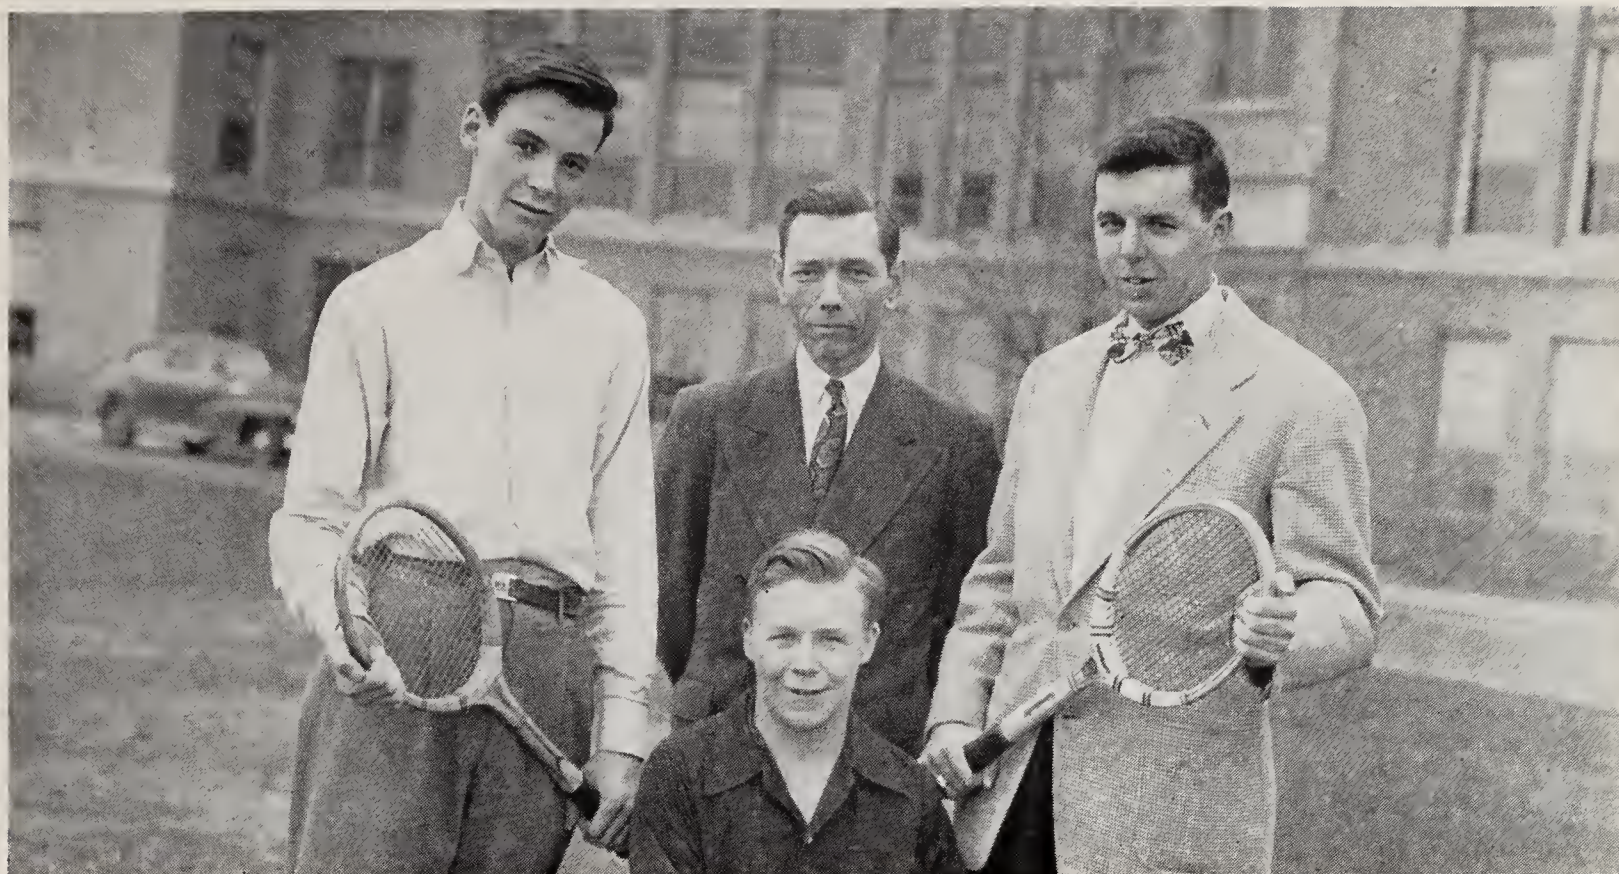

BASEBALL

BASEBALL

Mr. Forest hopes to rebuild his squad this year with the only returning veterans Dick Worthley, Bill Nicol, Paul McGuiggan, Jim Kenney, Bob Leavitt, Paul Bohannon, and Lou Coulacos. Promising prospects up from the J. V. squad are Don Stroberg, Bob Blanford, Dave Lang, Wes Burnham, Frank Carroll, Gerry Welch, Walter Hannon, and Tom Girvin. Up from last year's championship junior high team Don Miller, Walter Rose, Bob Buckley, Dick Ryan, and Eddie Ames are expected to supply added power in years to come. Coach Forest expects to experiment with his sophomores and juniors in order to mold them into a well-knit outfit for the future. He intends to give these boys every chance to break into the starting lineup as all but two positions are open. However, starting pitchers should include Gus Cuneo, Don Miller, and Frank Carroll. Dependable Paul McGuiggan will be again behind the plate with Bob Blanford in reserve. Fighting it out for first base honors will be Don Stroberg and Chick Nelson. The rest of the infield will be rounded out by Jim Kenney, Paul Bohannon, Lou Coulacos and Bob Leavitt. Hard-hitting outfielders should be Dick Worthley, Bill Nicol, and Gerry Welch. If the young sophomores intend to break into the starting lineup, they must break past this brigade of experienced men. Coach Forest should come up with a good hustling squad of his youngsters that can press the veterans for starting positions.

TENNIS

During the spring days when walking past the tennis courts at Atlantic, Monclair, and Fenno Streets, you will probably see some of North's racqueteers industriously working to bring the school another outstanding athletic team. Returning from last year's outfit are three veterans, Steve Erwin, Don TenEyck, and Everett "Hoppy" Hopkinson. Others out to bolster the team's chances are Arden Smith, and basketball stars Frank Dodd, Jack Leary, and Jack Fitzgerald. Coach Roy Sinclair has arranged a twelve game schedule with especially tough competition expected from Brockton and Milton. If more candidates would report, especially tenth graders, Coach Sinclair looks for an improvement in last year's record of 2 wins and 9 losses. Each match consists of three sets of singles and two sets of doubles; hence, lack of material could hurt North's chances. At the end of the season, the players are looking forward to displaying their talent in the Interscholastic Tennis Matches at Milton.

CHEERLEADERS

Two, four, six, eight! Who do we appreciate? The Cheerleaders! Not only do we appreciate the hours of practice, the aching muscles, the wind in the face, and the dirt on the knees that are the cheerleaders' lot, but we admire from the bottom of our untalented little hearts those who have the native skill, agility, and downright courage to stand before two schoolful's of kids and execute a perfect split. Hats off to Betty Geary, Pat Kaulbeck, Elsie Hannon, Marilyn Packert, Joan McElwin, Ann Richards, Rita Marrocco, and Gloria McCarthy.
